

Overview

Moore County's long-range planning efforts seek to ensure other applicable countywide long-range planning efforts facilitated by other agencies are coordinated and represent a collective vision for growth and development of the county. Additionally, the long-range planning efforts work to identify and coordinate necessary updates to policies and regulations guiding the future growth of the county.

In addition Long-Range Planning also:

-

Assists with the formal implementation of the county long-range planning work program

-

Facilitates community and stakeholder meetings to gather input on proposed amendments to development policies and regulations

-

Meets with individuals and organizations to provide program information and assess countywide and regional long-range planning needs

-

Serves as the main department contact for BRAC related projects

Recent long-range projects include:

-

Small Area 'A' Plan

-

Facilitation of the Working Lands Protection Plan

Upcoming long-range projects include:

-

Updates to the County of Moore's 1999 Land Use Plan,

-

Participation in the Moore County Comprehensive Transportation Plan

Inquiries regarding additional information about recent and upcoming long-range projects may be emailed to Jeremy Rust at jrust@moorecountync.gov